Arise, You Lion of Glory!
For Solo Pipa and Chinese Orchestra

PROGRAM NOTE

The traditional Cantonese lion dance is well known for its sophisticated and technical demanding gestures. This composition draws inspiration from this gorgeous tradition, using musical materials to depict various elements in the lion dance.

The melodic materials are derived from the Cantonese tune Singsi (literally “Awakening of the Lion/Lion Dance”). The original melody is segmented. Through the traditional Chinese composing technique “slowing down and adding flowers,” and “melodic decoration,” the new materials are constructed. This composition closely follows the structure of a traditional pipa piece. Apart from having flavours from both wenqu and wuqu, the musical flow follows a “qi – cheng- zhuan – he” structure, hence stylistically and skilfully created an eclectic piece with various Chinese idioms.

There are twelve poetically named sections that made references to the lion dance.
